

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A lancet device including: a puncture needle; a drive spring adapted to move the puncture needle from a accommodated position to a lancing position; a trigger adapted to release the drive spring from a compressed state to move the puncture needle from the accommodated position to the lancing position; a main casing having space for accommodating the puncture needle and the drive spring and having a puncture hole for guiding a tip of the puncture needle to an outside of the main casing; and a sterilizer adapted to sterilize the puncture needle.